

2. Mr. Amory, DD/1, informs me that we do not have anyone available to accompany the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy on its forthcoming trip to Australia.

2. I talked with Cong. Cole, Chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, and Corbin Allardice, Staff Director, regarding our previous discussions about having a CIA man accompany the Joint Committee on its trip to Australia. Chairman Cole said that if it was a matter which would be of assistance to CIA he was sure it could be arranged, but that insofar as the necessity of keeping the Committee currently briefed, as [REDACTED] had done, the Department of State was furnishing a man for the trip. Mr. Kirkpatrick will recheck the Director's desires as the Director has presently designated [REDACTED] to accompany the group.
